

The Communication and Therapy Treatment COBIMAX® – Communication Biological Matrix

Cobimax is a communication and therapy treatment that enables dealing with a broad range of various illnesses at a physical and emotional level. COBIMAX works without any kind of technology or computer-assisted programs and derives solely its power from the therapist's and the patient's brain. This method enables the therapist to recognize every dysfunction at a cellular and organ level and to take necessary corrective measures in the same process.

Speed is not Rocket Science!

Consider your individual brain areas to be a manual gearbox with the ability to think in various fast times.

If you refer to your own waking state of consciousness as being the slowest, „first gear“, COBIMAX then represents the “fourth gear”. The COBIMAX user reaches a speed of thinking by the means of this fourth gear that enables docking on the subconscious level of the cerebellum and influencing our light body, i.e. our ultraviolet light body, which lies in the core of our cells. And to top it off: all six and a half billion people are subconsciously permanently connected with each other at this time level in which the wavelength of the ultraviolet light oscillates. COBIMAX is a key to this thinking portal and enables every human being to exchange biological data with any other human being.

Many years ago Einstein already rightly said that if we want to influence materia, it is not the time in which the materia oscillates that is vital but the time of thinking of the brain that wants to influence the materia!

How does COBIMAX work?

The main tools used by COBIMAX are microtubules which bring form and variable stability to every cell, similar to the beams of a timbered house. Microtubules are hollow on the inside but are flooded by ultraviolet light representing the outer physical structure of our biological body. Different lengths and widths of the microtubules allow these to oscillate in every kind of frequency required by the therapist (oscillation per second). It is this very oscillation that enables us to monitor various processes in organs right into the cell. In this way for instance, microbes can be destroyed or emotionally-caused cell dysfunctions can be restructured. Not only that: each health-promoting substance such as tincture, herbs or electromagnetic signals is made available to the cell by means of this oscillation process without any of them having to be taken. So this enables access to every requested substance and guarantees a precise dosage and placing without any side effects, thanks to the oscillation. Indigenous peoples such as the aborigines have been practicing exactly this procedure (knowledge) for thousands of years.

Language is Imagination

The communication tool Cobimax reduces all languages of the world to their elementary function: the creation of pictures (holograms) by the brain. According to quantum physics, (David Bohm, Roger Penrose) our biological body reproduces itself approximately forty times a second. This reproduction enables COBIMAX access to the interface of inner/outer reality in order to supply suggestions for improvement in the form of holograms via the subconscious of the cerebellum. The subconscious of the cerebellum activates the microtubules and necessary changes are carried out immediately. This process can be compared to a concert of a symphony orchestra (microtubules) during which the audience (waking state of consciousness) takes over the role and skills of the conductor (subconscious of the cerebellum) at the same time. The concert (oscillations of the microtubules) creates sounds in the cells which have an immediate healing effect on diseased tissues or a deadening one on microbes. As you can see, COBIMAX practically enables the audience to be the conductor.

Where is COBIMAX unique?

Cell receptors are influenced by all kinds of circumstances such as aging, illness and destructive feeling hormones in such a way that they can only fulfill their function of taking on and transferring nutrients and signals in an insufficient manner. This causes a paradoxical condition in the body. Even though the storeroom (your body) is full of absorbed nutrients, the cells are starving. This is exactly where COBIMAX enables the immediate regeneration of these modified cell receptors. The premature aging of the cell is put to a stop and the cell is able to take up all the nutrients offered again. The most common cause of cell receptors and cells being affected is the influence of destructive feeling hormones, in particular fear and hate. Envy, anger, jealousy etc. should also not be underestimated. These stress factors, which subsequently cause hyperacidity of the body, can be efficiently and easily absorbed by this method. As a result, people can enjoy their feelings again without being at the mercy of the chemically emotional cell dictatorship.

Active principles of COBIMAX

These are basic active principles of COBIMAX, which have fast, efficient and sustainable effects on the following illnesses and symptoms:

- Allergies/Hay fever
- Cardiovascular circulation disorders
- Borreliosis
- Skin diseases
- Attention deficit disorder (ADD/ADHS)
- Chronical tiredness syndrome
- Drug addiction (narcotic drugs, nicotine, alcohol)
- Depression
- Rheumatism
- Neurological illnesses
- Organ dysfunction
- Microbe control (bacteria, viruses, fungi)
- Infections
- Eye complaints
- Emotional imbalance
- Conflict resolution at work, in a relationship
- and many more

The COBIMAX method is unique in the simple way it can be applied as well as in its immediate effect! Get to know the Communication Biological Matrix! We look forward to hearing from you.

Bernd Laudenbach was born in 1959.

While pursuing his profession as a masseur, he was already looking for possibilities of optimizing pathological bodily changes in a sustainable way.

Even though this seemed impossible, Bernd Laudenbach's curiosity and persistence brought him to thoroughly examine and consistently question previous findings regarding the human organism and the mind. As a result of his research on his own body and mind as well as constant self-analysis, Bernd Laudenbach subsequently developed the Communication Biological Matrix.

When he began tests to activate his self-healing powers in the early nineties, he was neither thinking of being able to treat other people one day nor of providing this knowledge or rather this tool to others interested in therapeutical applications.

He has been successfully treating thousands of people seeking help since 1999 and has been additionally training COBIMAX therapists since 2005.
